Alt-A	Lehman described Alt-A loans as loans “associated with borrowers who may have creditworthiness of ‘prime’ quality but may have traits that prevent the loans from qualifying as ‘prime.’ Those traits could include documentation deficiencies related to the borrowers’ income disclosure, referred to as partial or no documentation; or the underlying property may not be owner-occupied despite full or lower documentation of the borrowers’ income levels.” ⁶ Aurora was the primary Alt-A originator for Lehman. ⁷
Alt-B	Informal term used in the mortgage industry to describe Alt-A loans that were of lesser credit quality. ⁸ Some within Lehman used the term Alt-B to refer to loans originated by Lehman subsidiary Aurora Loan Services, LLC under a program known as Mortgage Maker. ⁹

⁸ Doris “Tanta” Dungey, Calculated Risk, Alt-A: The New Home of Subprime? <http://www.calculatedriskblog.com> (July 11, 2007) (last visited on Feb. 6, 2010) (stating that the term “Alt-B” was “not universally popular in the industry” and “is not an attempt to describe a kind of subprime lending as much as it is a derogatory term for the worst kind of officially-described ‘Alt-A,’ rather like the term ‘liar loan’ is a derogatory term for the blander ‘no doc.’ If it has any clear definition, it generally refers to the lowest-quality segment of the somewhat nebulous ‘Alt-A’ world.”)

Repurchase Agreement (“Repo”) ⁴⁴⁵	Agreements where one party transfers an asset or security to another party as collateral for a short-term borrowing of cash, while simultaneously agreeing to repay the cash and take back the collateral at a specific point in time. When the repo transaction matures, the borrower repays the funds plus an agreed upon interest rate and takes back its collateral. ⁴⁴⁶
Repo 105 - 108	Repo 105 transactions were nearly identical to standard repo transactions, but with a critical difference: Lehman accounted for Repo 105 transactions as “sales” as opposed to cash borrowings or financing transactions based upon the overcollateralization or higher than normal haircut in a Repo 105 transaction. ⁴⁴⁷ Repo 105 and Repo 108 transactions shared the same accounting and structure. They differed only in that Repo 105 required fixed income securities and a minimum 5% haircut, while Repo 108 transactions required equities securities and a minimum 8% haircut.

APPENDIX 5: DOCUMENT COLLECTION AND REVIEW

The Examiner collected 5,150,000 documents from Lehman Brothers and other entities, individuals and agencies. Although time did not permit the review of every document, the Examiner reviewed and analyzed approximately 93% of those documents, constituting more than 34 million pages. This Appendix describes the process by which the Examiner collected and reviewed documents.

I. COLLECTION OF LEHMAN ELECTRONIC DOCUMENTS

Alvarez & Marsal ("A&M") controls and manages the collection of historical Lehman e-mail messages and other electronically stored information. At the outset of the investigation A&M informed the Examiner that there are approximately three petabytes -- or the equivalent of approximately 350 billion pages -- of Lehman e-mail and other electronically stored documents available.

To narrow that universe, the Examiner submitted thirty-seven formal search requests to A&M for e-mail messages and attachments. The search requests are reproduced in Exhibit 5.1 to this Appendix. Each search request enumerated specific custodians, time periods and, in most cases, keywords or search terms to be used to identify e-mail messages and attachments potentially relevant to the Examiner's inquiry. Through these searches, the Examiner sought documents from 281 carefully selected Lehman custodians, and other defined categories of documents not attributable to a particular custodian. A list of the custodians for whom e-mail was requested is attached at Exhibit 5.2 to this Appendix.

As a result of the searches, the Examiner obtained 4,437,095 electronic Lehman documents from A&M. At an average of six pages per document, these amount to more than 26 million pages.

A&M advised the Examiner that it used its own internal technology resources and staff to perform the processing, searching and deduplication of the Lehman e-mail in response to the Examiner's requests. After identifying e-mail messages responsive to each Examiner request, A&M performed certain additional searches against the result set to identify potentially privileged documents.

These potentially privileged documents were withheld from the Examiner until A&M's attorneys could confirm whether the documents were in fact privileged. Documents initially withheld but later found not to be privileged were delivered to the Examiner.¹

Documents were also returned by the Examiner if it was determined that the documents were privileged and had been inadvertently produced to the Examiner. To expedite production, the Examiner had agreed to a claw back procedure for inadvertently produced privileged documents. In many instances, the Examiner himself voluntarily returned privileged documents he determined were inadvertently produced. A copy of the May 26, 2009 claw-back letter agreement with Weil, Gotshal & Manges is attached at Exhibit 5.3.

A&M loaded all e-mail messages and attachments responsive to the Examiner's search requests into the online hosting platform hosted and operated by Stratify, an Iron Mountain company. Stratify is a secure, web-based, electronic discovery and document management system. A&M maintains the administrative rights to the Stratify system; A&M granted access to the Examiner and his counsel for document review. Stratify's document management system is an on-line database that can be accessed by any person or entity given access rights.

Documents were received from third parties in a variety of different formats, including native electronic files, paper, electronic images of scanned paper, and converted image files. These documents were managed by Jenner & Block's in-house paralegal and litigation support team, and loaded onto Jenner & Block's in-house document management system, CaseLogistix, for storage, review and analysis.

The collection of documents in CaseLogistix is searchable, and documents can be identified by producing party, by production set, date range or other criteria. Both Stratify and CaseLogistix allow users to search for documents, and narrow the focus of their review, by using one or more search criteria, such as reviewer tags, the full text of the document, and metadata.

III. DOCUMENT REVIEW STAFFING

The Examiner's initial document review team was comprised of associates from Jenner & Block. However, given the number of documents collected from Lehman and other entities, individuals, and agencies, the Examiner sought and obtained the Court's approval to retain more than 75 contract attorneys in order to reduce the cost of reviewing documents and to expedite the review of documents relevant to the Examiner's inquiry.

On April 7, 2009, the Examiner entered into an agreement with Strategic Legal Solutions to retain contract attorneys, subject to court approval. The Agreement between Strategic Legal Solutions and Jenner & Block, and its addendum, is attached to this Appendix at Exhibit 5.5.

On or about April 15, 2009, the Examiner retained 20 contract attorneys from Strategic Legal Solutions, subject to court approval, 10 of whom were located in New York and 10 of whom were located in Chicago. On April 29, 2009, the Examiner filed the Application of the Examiner For Order Authorizing the Retention of Certain Contract Attorneys to Perform Specific Document Review Tasks Nunc Pro Tunc as of April 15, 2009. On May 15, 2009, the Court approved the Examiner's retention of the first group of contract attorneys through Strategic Legal Solutions.

On or about May 11, 2009, the Examiner retained another 17 contract attorneys (10 in Chicago and 7 in New York). On May 15, 2009, the Examiner filed the Second Application of the Examiner For Order Authorizing the Retention of Certain Contract Attorneys to Perform Specific Document Review Tasks Nunc Pro Tunc as of May 11, 2009. On June 3, 2009, the Court approved the Examiner's retention of this second group of contract attorneys through Strategic Legal Solutions.

On or about June 11, 2009, the Examiner retained 34 additional contract attorneys in Chicago. On June 30, 2009, the Examiner filed the Third Application of the Examiner For Order Authorizing the Retention of Certain Contract Attorneys to Perform Specific Document Review Tasks Nunc Pro Tunc as of June 11, 2009. On or about July 2, 2009, the Examiner hired 10 additional contract attorneys in Chicago, and on July 8, 2009, supplemented its Third Application with a Notice of Filing Additional Affidavits of Disinterestedness In Connection with the Examiner's Third Application to Retain Certain Contract Attorneys Nunc Pro Tunc as of June 11, 2009. On July 16, 2009, the Court approved the Examiner's retention of the third and fourth groups of contract attorneys through Strategic Legal Solutions.

These contract attorneys, supplemented by Jenner & Block attorneys, conducted the first level review of the documents collected by the Examiner. All of the attorneys were trained to conduct this first level review by identifying documents of possible interest and coding the substantive area to which the document pertains. Jenner & Block attorneys conducted frequent quality checks of the reviews performed by the contract attorneys to confirm that the contract attorneys were properly identifying documents relevant to the substantive areas of the Examiner's review.

The documents identified as relevant in the first level review were subjected to further and more careful review by lawyers and financial professionals especially immersed in the subjects of the Examiner's review. All document review beyond the first level review was performed by Jenner & Block attorneys or Duff & Phelps professionals.

IV. DOCUMENTS REVIEWED

All of the Lehman e-mail and electronic documents loaded in the Stratify database have been reviewed by contract attorneys and Jenner & Block associates. The documents identified as relevant and coded to a particular relevant area were then subject to further review and analysis by Jenner & Block attorneys with knowledge of each substantive area.

Approximately half of the documents loaded into CaseLogistix – 353,182 of the 701,292 documents -- have been reviewed by contract attorneys and Jenner & Block associates.² There are approximately 16 million pages of documents loaded into CaseLogistix, with an approximate average of 23 pages per document. Using that average, the Examiner reviewed approximately 8 million pages of documents in CaseLogistix.

Although time did not permit review of all of the documents loaded into CaseLogistix, the Examiner is reasonably confident that most, if not all, of the truly relevant documents were reviewed. The CaseLogistix database is searchable, and the Examiner conducted many focused searches against that database to identify documents that might be relevant to the Examiner's areas of inquiry. The documents identified as relevant and coded to a particular relevant area were also subjected to further review and analysis by Jenner & Block attorneys with knowledge of each substantive area.

In total, the Examiner reviewed and analyzed approximately 4,790,277 documents constituting more than 34 million pages in order to identify documents relevant to the Examiner's review.

Re: Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc., Document Protocols in Examiner Investigation

Dear Bob:

We write to memorialize our previous discussions concerning (1) the Examiner's disclosure of documents produced by Lehman and (2) the protocols related to Lehman's "claw-back" of privileged documents inadvertently produced to the Examiner by Lehman.

The Examiner has sought a large volume of documents and information and asked Lehman to expedite this production. Accordingly, Lehman and the Examiner have agreed to supplement the Stipulation entered into between the parties and ordered by the Bankruptcy Court on January 9, 2009 (the "January 9 Stipulation") as set forth below.

Pursuant to the January 9 Stipulation, Lehman's production of any documents and information ("Shared Information") subject to a claim of confidentiality, attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or any other privilege is not a waiver of any claim of privilege, confidentiality, or other protection with respect to that or any other Shared Information. In the event that privileged or protected Shared Information is inadvertently produced to the Examiner, Lehman shall notify the Examiner in writing.

Robert L. Byman, Esq.
May 26, 2009

The Examiner shall promptly collect all copies of protected or privileged Shared Information and return them to Lehman, or shall inform Lehman in writing that all copies of such material have been deleted or destroyed.

If, in the course of the Examiner's own review of Shared Information, the Examiner identifies material for which it believes a valid privilege may exist, the Examiner shall promptly notify Lehman. The Examiner shall collect all copies of the privileged Shared Information and return them to Lehman, or shall inform Lehman in writing that all copies of such material have been deleted or destroyed.

Pursuant to paragraph 16 of the Preliminary Work Plan of Anton R. Valukas, Examiner, February 17, 2009 (the "Preliminary Work Plan"), and as previously agreed with you, the Examiner may make Shared Information publicly available through a document depository "subject to redactions for applicable privileges and confidences." Accordingly, the Examiner shall notify Lehman at least thirty (30) days prior to making Shared Information available to interested third parties through a document depository.

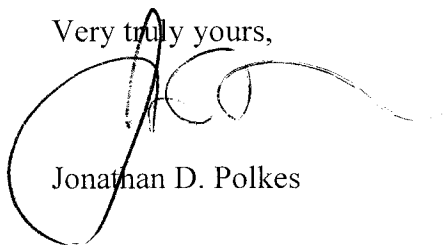

Notwithstanding paragraph 5 of the January 9 Stipulation, Lehman and the Examiner agree that the January 9 Stipulation does not preclude the Examiner from disclosing Shared Information to current or former Lehman employees, and their counsel, in connection with interviews of current or former Lehman employees related to the Examiner's investigation ("Employee Interviews"). The Examiner shall request that all copies of Shared Information disclosed in Employee Interviews are returned to the Examiner at the end of the interview.

Finally, Lehman and the Examiner will each designate a person or persons to coordinate the clawback of Shared Information pursuant to the protocols set forth herein.

The agreements memorialized herein shall apply to the production and disclosure of all Shared Information, whether produced or disclosed before or after the date of this letter.

Please feel free to contact me should you have any questions concerning the above.

Very truly yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "J. Polkes", with a large, sweeping flourish extending to the right.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party

may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications,

or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.
(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;
(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;
(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or
(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;
(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or
(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and
(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and
(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

¹ Capitalized terms not otherwise defined shall have the meaning ascribed to them in the Motion.

1. The Motion is granted.
2. The Examiner is authorized, pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2004, to issue such subpoenas as may be necessary to compel the production of documents and the testimony of Witnesses in connection with the Examiner's Investigation.

4. As directed in ¶ 8 of the Examiner Order, the Examiner shall cooperate fully with any government agencies including, but not limited to, any Federal, state or local government agency that currently or in the future may be investigating the Debtors, their management or their financial condition, and the Examiner shall use best efforts to coordinate with such agencies in order to avoid unnecessary interference with, or duplication of, any investigations conducted by such agencies. The Examiner will follow a protocol to be established with the governmental agencies for the sharing of information to the extent that such sharing benefits the Debtors' estates, and such sharing of information shall be subject to appropriate conditions to protect the Debtors' estates.
5. The Examiner shall file with the Court an affidavit or declaration of service for each subpoena he serves.
6. Unless otherwise agreed to by the Examiner, Witnesses shall have ten (10) days from the service of a subpoena to either (1) produce to the Examiner all responsive documents requested in the Examiner's subpoena, except as provided in ¶ 7 infra; or (2) file with the Bankruptcy Court an objection or response to the subpoena, with a hearing promptly scheduled.

8. The Witness is directed to submit to oral examination upon reasonable notice and, absent other agreement with the Examiner, in no event more than fifteen (15) days from the date of service of a deposition subpoena upon such Witness

9. Nothing herein limits the substantive rights of Witnesses or other parties under applicable law to object to or oppose any subpoena the Examiner may serve.

10. This Court shall retain jurisdiction to resolve any disputes arising or related to this Order including any discovery disputes that may arise between or among the parties and to interpret, implement and enforce the provisions of this Order.

11. In accordance with Bankruptcy Rules 2004 and 9016, the Clerk of this Court shall issue subpoenas, signed but otherwise in blank, as requested by the Examiner.

12. This Order is without prejudice to the Trustee's right to file further motions seeking additional documents and testimony pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2004(a) or any other applicable law.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party

may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications,

or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications,

or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party

may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications,

or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Dear Bob:

Thank you for contacting Strategic Legal Resources, Inc., d/b/a Strategic Legal Solutions ("SLS"). We look forward to providing you with attorneys, "J.D. paralegals" and paralegals (collectively the "Professional" or "Professionals") on a temporary basis. This agreement (the "Agreement") is intended to set forth the terms and conditions that will apply in connection with the utilization of SLS's services.

1. SLS Services. SLS is dedicated to providing you with exceptional legal professionals to satisfy both your short and long-term legal needs. We will work with you to analyze your specific staffing requirements and will forward to you upon request a selection of resumes of pre-screened Professionals who we believe are best suited for the specific assignment. Of course, the final selection of each Professional is always made by you and can be changed by you at any time. In addition to providing you with exceptional legal talent on an as-needed basis, SLS decreases your overhead costs by placing all Professionals on our payroll and handling all payroll deductions and other functions.

2. Engagement and Compensation. In order to ensure accuracy and to keep you informed on a current basis on the work performed by a Professional on your behalf, our Professionals will provide us with complete weekly time records that are signed by an authorized representative of your firm or company overseeing the project. We will invoice you weekly based on such time records and you make payments to SLS directly. We pay the Professional working for you each week and handle all payroll tax withholdings. We will invoice you at agreed upon rates (which you agree not to discuss with the Professional) with respect to the hours that any Professional performs work for you, and we will confirm the exact rates with you prior to the commencement of any assignment in a confirmation letter which will become an integral part of this Agreement. The agreed upon hourly rate that you will pay to SLS for a Professional's engagement includes such Professional's compensation as well as our placement and servicing fee. If you desire to raise the compensation of a Professional, you should contact us in order that we can revise our hourly rate to reflect a proportionate increase in the compensation we pay the Professional. You will not make any payments directly to the Professional other than reimbursement for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the Professional on your behalf. You have the absolute right without any input from or explanation to SLS to terminate the engagement of a Professional at any time without cause (subject, of course, to any applicable local, state and federal laws).

You and SLS acknowledge that, from time to time based on market conditions, we may need to adjust our agreed upon rates in order to retain the Professionals working on the project. This is desirable in order to maintain continuity and the highest levels of efficiency, and to capitalize on institutional knowledge the Professionals will have gained over the course of the review. Any increase in the agreed upon rates will be subject to prior written approval by you, and will include a 21% mark-up, which will cover SLS's administrative costs and will not include any additional profit. In such event, SLS shall provide you with at least thirty (30) days prior written notice of such proposed rate adjustment in order to provide you the opportunity to notify any appropriate parties, as necessary, and elect whether to continue our arrangement.

All invoices are due and payable within thirty (30) days of receipt thereof.

3. Benefits Package. The principals of SLS are committed to providing you with highly qualified Professionals. Accordingly, we provide our Professionals with the following benefits package:

- a) all Professionals are eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits;
- b) all Professionals are automatically covered under our workers' compensation insurance policy;
- c) all Professionals are automatically covered for disability insurance benefits through the New York State Disability Fund, in the event an injury or illness is not covered by the workers' compensation insurance;
- d) group health insurance coverage is made accessible to all Professionals as part of a group plan.

Of course, SLS reserves the right to add to, subtract, modify or amend the foregoing benefits package at any time.

4. Hiring a Professional. Should you wish to hire, on a full-time or part-time basis other than through SLS, a Professional that we have procured for you on a temporary basis, please let us know and we will make the necessary arrangements. In such an event, SLS shall be entitled to a placement fee equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the Professional's first year compensation, including guaranteed or sign-on bonuses, in the case of attorneys and "J.D. paralegals" and twenty percent (20%) of the Professional's first year compensation, including guaranteed or sign-on bonuses, in the case of paralegals (the "Release Fee"). However, the Release Fee shall be reduced by the hours of work that SLS is fully compensated by you for the work of such Professional.

•For attorneys, the Release Fee is based on 960 hours, which is the equivalent of six months of work at forty hours per week. Thus, for example, if an attorney is engaged by you through SLS for 432 hours prior to the offer and acceptance of an offer of employment by you, there will be a Release Fee of 55% of the placement fee of 25% of the Professional's first year compensation. (432 divided by 960 equals 45%, which means 45% of the Release Fee has been worked off.)

•For "J.D. paralegals", the Release Fee is based on 720 hours, which is the equivalent of 4-1/2 months of work at forty hours per week. Thus, for example, if a "J.D. paralegal" is engaged by you through SLS for 468 hours prior to the offer and acceptance of an offer of employment by you, there will be a Release Fee of 35% of the placement fee of 25% of the Professional's first year compensation. (468 divided by 720 equals 65%, which means 65% of the Release Fee has been worked off.)

•For paralegals, the Release Fee is based on 480 hours, which is the equivalent of 3 months of work at forty hours per week. Thus, for example, if a paralegal is engaged by you through SLS for 144 hours prior to the offer and acceptance of an offer of employment by you, there will be a Release Fee of 70% of the placement fee of 20% of the Professional's first year compensation. (144 divided by 480 equals 30%, which means 30% of the Release Fee has been worked off.)

Upon our receipt of the full Release Fee along with any other outstanding sums, you shall be released from any other compensation arrangements we made with you with regard to that particular Professional. If, however, you hire, use or enter into a relationship with a Professional on any basis (directly or indirectly) other than through SLS or by paying the Release Fee as set forth above, SLS shall be entitled to the previously agreed upon or quoted rate for each hour, day, week or month (as the case may be) that services are rendered or time is expended for or on your behalf or under your direction by a Professional.

As consideration for the services that SLS has and will provide to you, you agree that if you wish to engage or hire a Professional referred to you, directly or indirectly, by SLS on either a temporary or permanent basis within one year of the date of referral (whether or not you engaged the Professional at that time), or within one year of the date on which the Professional last performed services for you, whichever is later, that Professional must be engaged through SLS with our consent and pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

5. No Supervision. SLS is a placement agency whose business is to meet your needs by procuring for you high quality attorneys and paralegals on a temporary or permanent basis. The Professionals referred by SLS to you will work at your office or at any location you designate. SLS is not engaged in the practice of law. Accordingly, SLS will not control, direct or supervise the professional activities (including, without limitation, the work schedules) of any Professional we provide, and SLS does not participate in, has no knowledge of and assumes no responsibility for reviewing, examining or verifying either the assignment furnished by you or the work product produced by any Professionals that we provide.

6. Miscellaneous. Should the provisions of paragraph four of this Agreement be breached or violated by you, it is agreed and understood that SLS shall be entitled to exercise any remedy available to it in law or in equity, as well as to obtain from you outstanding fees plus attorney's fees and costs of collection. This Agreement shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with the laws of New York.

It is understood that this Agreement is subject to court approval.

Any and all references in this letter to (a) "you" and "your" are intended to refer to the individual(s) or entity for whom we procure a Professional as well as its successors, assigns, agents, subsidiaries, partners, stockholders and related entities and parties, and to (b) "SLS", "we", "us" and "our" are intended to refer to Strategic Legal Resources, Inc., d/b/a/ Strategic Legal Solutions, a Delaware corporation, as well as its successors, assigns and related entities. The terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement will remain in full force and effect unless expressly waived or modified in writing by the party against whom enforcement is sought.

In order to confirm your agreement and acceptance of the terms and conditions set forth in this letter, (a) please sign your name in the appropriate space provided below and (b) mail the original signed copy of this Agreement to us. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us. We look forward to working with you.

Sincerely,

Robert Byman, Esq.
Jenner & Block LLP
919 Third Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Dear Bob:

Reference is made to the letter agreement dated April 7, 2009 hereof (the "Agreement") between Strategic Legal Resources, Inc., and you. This confirmation letter incorporates the terms and provisions of the Agreement by reference and supplements the Agreement to provide the specific terms of the engagement of our contract attorneys.

The contract attorneys will begin their assignment on or about April 15, 2009. You agree to pay SLS at a rate of $43.50 per hour (regardless of the number of hours worked in a week) for this assignment, which you will pay to us within thirty (30) days of receipt by you of an invoice reflecting the number of hours worked by the contract attorneys on this assignment during the previous week.

Nothing in this arrangement commits Jenner to any particular number of contract attorneys or any minimum number of persons or hours; Jenner is free to discontinue the services of any or all of the contract attorneys at any time.

You have advised us that Jenner anticipates that it will soon need more manpower but wishes to start with approximately 20 contract attorneys, split between New York and Chicago) on Wednesday April 15; you will give us the names of the individuals you have selected from the group we have identified. We are confident that we will have a solid group of 30 contract attorneys (15 in New York and 15 in Chicago) ready to start the project by next week. The contracts attorneys will be admitted to a US bar and have electronic document review experience. We will continue to add attorneys with the same qualifications as the project grows. At this time, we understand that both projects will be housed at Jenner's offices, but that this might change as the project continues. Per our proposal, we will provide space at no additional cost and computers for up to 25 attorneys on our premises.

Notwithstanding anything else in this letter or the Agreement, SLS understands and agrees that Jenner will file an application with the court regarding the contract attorneys, that the application will disclose the rate charged by SLS for the contract attorneys, and that the application will be filed in the public record with the bankruptcy court.

We look forward to a successful project.

Sincerely,

Jay Horowitz

APPENDIX 7: BIBLIOGRAPHY

In the course of investigating a number of the discrete topics assigned to the Examiner, it was necessary to collect and consult public materials. In the course of those efforts, the Examiner assembled an extensive, although certainly not comprehensive, list of publicly available materials relating to Lehman and relevant events, and he provides that list in this Bibliography as a potential resource for the parties and public. The Examiner did not review or rely upon the listed items except to the extent specifically cited in the Report, and the Examiner makes no representation as to the reliability or accuracy of any source listed in this Bibliography.
